Cell Phone Information

- Most of our students choose to own a cell phone plan in Taiwan. Most of the plans are required to sign an at least 2-year contract for the lowest service charge or the highest discount rate on purchasing a new cell phone. A monthly service fee will be charged accordingly. An extremely high early termination fee may occur if you ended your contract earlier. You can also choose a “pre-paid” plan which you buy minutes in advance.
- In Taiwan, almost any kind of cell phones are sim-card changeable. That is, you don't have to buy a new cell phone when you decided to switch to a new cell phone carrier. The new cell phone carrier will provide a new sim card to you.
- ★ Local providers include Taiwan Mobile, Far eastone, Chunghwa, and so on. Also refer to NTPU Handbook for International Degree Student 2022/2023 Page 50-51 for more details.

NHI Card Functions

1. Prescription and examination Records

The NHI card stores records of medication usage and past examinations for doctors to use as a reference when they treat a patient so that they don't duplicate prescriptions or examinations. This helps safeguard patient safety, improve health care quality and reduce medical waste.

2. Treatment Records

The NHI card serves as the authoritative record of treatment under the National Health Insurance program, recording all doctor visits. When a patient receives health care, an allotted visit is normally deducted from the card, but if the attending physician enters on the card "clinic referral," "post surgery outpatient follow-up visit," or "hospitalization clinic follow-up visit," the subsequent visit is not deducted from the card total.

3. Catastrophic Illness Record

Records of a patient's catastrophic illness are directly entered into the NHI card, enabling patients with such illnesses who present their NHI card when getting care for the designated disease to be treated without having to pay a copayment.

Individuals covered by the National Health Insurance Program who have applied for and received catastrophic illness certification can ask clinics or hospitals to update their NHI cards if the cards do not include the catastrophic illness information. Cards can also be updated to include the catastrophic illness designation at any location where a card reader is available, such as any National Health Insurance Administration regional divisions or village, town, city or area administrative office. For more information, please check:

Remember to Bring Your National Health Insurance Card When Visiting a Doctor

Whether you are visiting a doctor, picking up your prescription, or undergoing a medical examination, you must bring your National Health Insurance card to any contracted health care institution (identified by the National Health Insurance logo in their doorways) in order to be treated under the health insurance program. You will be required, however, to pay a registration fee and copayment.

If you don't have your National Health Insurance card with you when visiting the doctor, you must first pay all medical expenses out of your own pocket. But you can have the expenses, minus the required copayment, refunded if you bring your National Health Insurance card and receipt to the health care institution where you were treated within 10 days.

Article 3 and 8 amended and approved at the second meeting of the IPUG for the 2018 Academic Year

Article 1 amended and approved at the first meeting of the IPUG for the 2019 Academic Year

Article 4 and 6 amended and approved at the second meeting of the IPUG for the 2019 Academic Year

Article 5 and 6 amended and approved at the sixth meeting of the IPUG for the 2020 Academic Year

Article 1 To encourage foreign students to study at the International Program on Urban Governance (hereafter referred to as the IPUG), International College of Sustainability Innovations at National Taipei University (NTPU), the IPUG stipulated the “IPUG at NTPU Review Regulations for Foreign Graduate Student Scholarship and Assistantship Applications” (hereafter referred to as the Regulations) based on Article 7 of the “NTPU Implementation Methods for Graduate Student Scholarship and Assistantship Applications.”

Article 2 The funding sources of scholarships and assistantships for foreign graduate students regulated in accordance with the Regulations are special subsidies from the school endowment fund and allocations and fundraising monies collected by the IPUG from within or outside NTPU.

Article 3 The scholarship and assistantship application qualifications and regulations for each academic year are listed below:

3.1 Scholarships:

- (1) Qualifications: Full-time foreign graduate students who have registered at the IPUG are eligible for scholarships. However, those who have domestic or international scholarships are ineligible for this scholarship. Newly registered students should file an application before enrollment.
- (2) Types of scholarships:
  1. Full scholarships: Reduction or exemption from tuition including miscellaneous fees, credits fees required for graduation (up to 15 credits per academic year) and housing fees and a semester-based living expenses subsidy for the subsidized period.
  2. Partial scholarships: Exemption or partial reduction of tuition or other awards at certain fixed amounts during the subsidized period.

- (3) Scholarship approval period: Funding is assessed and approved for one academic year at a time.
- (4) Scholarship distribution methods: Tuition required for each semester is allocated through the special fund designated by the Regulations. Subsidies for living expenses each semester and other fixed-amount subsidies are awarded and distributed per month. Subsidized months are March to June for the first semester, and September to December for the second semester. If the subsidized student is suspended or withdraws from the program, the subsidies are distributed until the month that the suspension or withdrawal comes into effect.

3.2 Assistantships:

- (1) Qualifications: Full-time foreign graduate students who have registered at the IPUG are eligible for this assistantship. Newly registered students should file an application before enrollment.
- (2) Types of assistantships:
  1. Master's program assistantships: Distribution is based on scholarship and assistantship allocation funds of the IPUG.
  2. Assistantships for student part-time work: Distribution is based on the funding sources regulated in Article 2 of the Regulations.
- (3) Students who receive these assistantship subsidies should help manage commonly assigned tasks at the IPUG and assist in related teaching, research, or administrative work.
- (4) The amount and period for assistantship subsidies is dependent on the allocation funds of the IPUG received from within and outside the school. The subsidy is awarded based on actual working months.

3.3 Quotas and amounts of scholarships and assistantships awarded each semester are determined after discussion at the IPUG meeting.

Article 4 Methods for applying for scholarships or assistantships, as per the Regulations, are given below:

- 4.1 Scholarships: Students who enrolled in fall semester/spring semester must submit the "Financial Aid Application Form for Current Students" before April 30th/ October 31st with all related documentation to the IPUG.
- 4.2 Assistantships: Students who enrolled in fall semester/spring semester must submit the "Financial Aid Application Form for Current Students" before April 30th/ October 31st with all related documentation to the IPUG.
- 4.3 Newly registered students may submit an application for scholarships or assistantships by providing the "Financial Aid Application Form for Prospective Students" to the IPUG before enrollment during the admission application procedure.

Article 5 The subsidized quotas of the IPUG awards scholarships and assistantships in each academic year are allocated based on the school budget and adjustable.

Article 6 Foreign graduate student scholarship and assistantship applications for the IPUG are reviewed at the IPUG meeting. ~~The review results are delivered to the NTPU scholarships and assistantships committee for approval and reference.~~ The academic or work performance of the recipient during the scholarship or assistantship subsidy period is considered during reapplication and review for their next scholarship or assistantship.

Article 7 A recipient of a partial scholarship, if recommended by his/her thesis advisor, may apply to convert the scholarship to a full scholarship. The application shall be evaluated according to the merit scholarship budget and approved by the IPUG committee. The full scholarship for the academic program shall be awarded to the recipient in the current semester.

Article 8 If a recipient exhibits undesirable academic performance or receives demerits or higher level disciplinary action for violating school rules, under the resolution of the IPUG meeting, the IPUG director may sign an appeal to discontinue the student's scholarships or assistantships.

Article 9 Foreign graduate students who receive a scholarship or assistantship regulated in accordance to the Regulations may apply for other scholarships or assistantships that are awarded by NTPU in accordance to school scholarship and assistantship review regulations.

Article 10 The Regulations were approved at the IPUG meeting and implemented after being approved by the president of NTPU. All amendments are made following this same procedure.

Article 1 Eligibility for admission and the maximum length of study

(1) Eligibility for admission

Admission to the International Program on Urban Governance (hereinafter “IPUG Program”) at National Taipei University (hereinafter “NTPU”) is granted only to applicants who meet all the eligibility requirements. The program’s admission criteria and related details shall be specified separately.

- (2) The duration of study in the IPUG Program is at least two years. In principle, students are forbidden from taking full-time jobs while enrolled in the IPUG Program. If special circumstances apply where a student needs to take a full-time job, that student shall apply to the office of the IPUG Program for permission within one month after the commencement of employment. The office will submit the application for the IPUG Program Committee’s approval. The duration of study in the IPUG Program for a student who has obtained permission to keep a full-time job is, in principle, at least three years, and his/her academic advisor and thesis advisor must be informed of said employment.

Article 2 Credits and course selection

- (1) To graduate from the IPUG Program, each student must complete at least 28 credits of courses, pass the oral examination for his/her Master’s degree and submit his/her thesis to the IPUG Program.
- (2) Students who take courses at departments (institutes) outside of the IPUG must acquire permission from his/her academic advisor or thesis advisor, and submit the course selection list with the academic advisor or thesis advisor’s signature to the IPUG. The credits of the course can be counted toward graduation credits, but this is limited to three credits total.

Article 3 Academic advisor

- (1) Each graduate student should, within one month after his/her enrollment, courteously request an IPUG faculty member to act as his/her academic advisor. If the student is unable to find an academic advisor during the specified period, his/her mentor for the IPUG shall act as the academic advisor.
- (2) The academic advisor will give instructions with regard to learning, course selection and research projects under the IPUG Program until his/her student chooses a thesis advisor.

Article 4 Thesis advisor

- (1) Each graduate student should, before the end of the first academic year after his/her enrollment, determine a thesis advisor with the consent of the Director of the IPUG. In principle, the thesis advisor should be a full-time or part-time faculty member of the university. The student should, in the meantime, submit the letter of agreement from the thesis advisor. If a student wishes to invite a thesis advisor from other universities, he/she should provide the reasons and obtain the agreement of the Director of the IPUG.
- (2) To replace a thesis advisor, a student shall submit an application to the IPUG Program and do so after obtaining permission from the IPUG Program Committee.

Article 5 Masters Examination Committee

- (1) Students taking the IPUG Program should apply for the convening of a Masters Examination Committee one month prior to the examination for a Master's degree.
- (2) Each oral examination committee comprises 3 to 5 members recommended by the thesis advisor. One of the committee members who did not serve as the thesis advisor will be appointed the convener and chairperson, hired by the NTPU president at the Director's request.

Article 6 Master's Degree Examination

- (1) Prior to the master's degree examination, the graduate student should provide a preliminary report on his or her thesis outline. The graduate student can apply for the master's degree examination only if his or her preliminary report is approved by the preliminary examination committee. Before submitting the degree thesis examination "application", students must complete the original comparison of the dissertation, using the softwares that are approved by the University. The comparison results (with literature references not included) must be submit to the program coordinator and the advisor(s) and be provided to the examination committee in the degree examination. The master's degree examination should be conducted at least three months after the preliminary report. The student should, with the consent of his or her thesis advisor, submit an integrated research proposal approved by the thesis advisor. The preliminary

- examination committee shall comprise three to five members recommended by the thesis advisor.
- (2) The master's degree examination shall be held in an open process and shall be audio-recorded. The student shall submit the application form together with the “Academic Research Ethics Education Certificate of Completion” to the IPUG at least one month prior to the examination. An examination may only be held when it is attended by at least two thirds of the committee members.

Article 7 Submitting the Master’s thesis for graduation

- (1) The master's degree thesis should be prepared according to the format required by the IPUG.
- (2) To complete the graduation process, the graduate student should submit to the office of the IPUG five hard copies of his or her master's degree thesis in green-colored covers, as well as one in the form of an electronic file. The student should, in the meantime, authorize the IPUG to publicize the abstract of the thesis on its website.

Article 8 Implementation details not specified in the Regulations shall be based on NTPU’s requirements.

Article 9 The Regulations will be implemented after approval by the IPUG Program Committee. Amendments shall be approved in the same fashion.

1 Front Gate

Two guard posts designed with rooftops designed after the curves of a kite look over arched walkways and sit on the sides of a 20-meter wide road. Upon entering the gate, visitors are greeted by the university's flower --- Bird of Paradise.

2 Waterside Pavilion (Liangyuan Pavilion)

Waterside Pavilion" was taken by the university's first president Dr. Lee Jian-xing from "Tao Te Ching": "The best virtue is like water's. Water benefits everything in the world".

The name "Liangyuan Pavilion" was derived from Prince Xiao of Liang of Han had been expelled from the palace and hence he was able to admire the picturesque view around Sui-Yang pond.

Banqueting and feasting with Sima Xiangru and Mei Sheng, this is also a oasis for they to meditate on philosophy and literature.

3 College of Humanities

The 12-story RC structure contains 1 underground level. The building maintains an atmosphere of the art and culture through the use of traditional red brick throughout the structure.

In addition to the college office, the building houses the departments of Chinese Literature, Foreign Languages and Applied Linguistics, History, Graduate Institute of Folk Arts and Cultural Heritage, The Center for Teacher Education, and Center for Haishan Research.

4 College of Business

The 8-story SRC structure contains 1 underground level. The building is designed in the concept of a traditional academy of classical learning and presents diverse spatial features , such as an open square and linked walkways .

In addition to the college office, the building houses the Departments of Business Administration, Finance and Cooperative Management, Accountancy, Statistics, Leisure and Sport Management, Graduate Institute of Information Management, Graduate Institute of International Business, Executive Master of Business Administration in International Finance(IEMBA).

5 College of Law

The 8-story RC structure contains 1 underground level. The building's exterior wall is designed to emphasize the solemn and rigorous nature of the law building. In addition to the college office, the building houses the Department of Law as well as the Center for Comparative Law Documentation.

6 Administrative Complex

The 6-story RC structure contains 2 underground levels. The building is home to all administrative departments of the university and was designed with a façade of vertical columns and generous use of glass curtains to exude a sense of change and modernism.

In addition to the Offices of the President and Vice President , the building contains Office of Academic Affairs, Office of Student Affairs, Office of General Affairs, Office of Research and Development Affairs , Office of International Affairs, Center for General Education, Alumni Center, Personnel Division, Accounting Division, and Office of the Secretariat.

7 College of Public Affairs

The 8-story RC structure contains 1 underground level. The horseshoe design of the building's central square combined with the washed red brick walls creates a style that is both plain and approachable.

In addition to the college office, the building houses the Departments of Public Administration and Policy, Public Finance, Real Estate and Built Environment, Graduate Institute of Urban Planning, and Graduate Institute of Natural Resource Management.

8 Topco Stadium

Topco Stadium is a 2-story RC structure and named by alumni Dr. J.W. Kuo, who donated the stadium's ventilation systems. The building features a grey exterior with vibrant yellow highlights to accentuate the image of energy and diversity.

The stadium can simultaneously accommodate 1,500 people in a large assembly and provides students with areas to learn sports such as basketball, volleyball, and badminton.

9 College of Social Sciences & International College of Sustainability Innovations

The 8-story RC structure contains 1 underground level. The building's architectural design features grace and steadiness as shown by the theme of gray and brick red as well as the receding floors that allow for outdoor activity areas.

In addition to the college office, the building houses the Departments of Economics, Sociology, Social Work, and Graduate School of Criminology.

In addition to the office of International College of Sustainability Innovations, this building also houses the International Program on Urban Governance (MS), and the Master Program of Business Administration (MBA) in Finance.

10 Library & Computer Center

The 7-story RC structure contains 1 underground level. The center is located at the end of the 60-meter long field and is a piece of landmark architecture on campus. The frontal arc of the building is designed with the concepts of arched façades and ceramic urns, lake water, and rising mountains; the central hall is constantly filled with a flow of teachers and students while ample lighting at night makes the building seem like an energetic owl.

Front Building (Library)

In addition to providing areas for studying, a culture & art exhibition on the 2F as well as a Gallery of school history and Haishan relics on the 6F are established there.

Back Building (Computer Center)

The computer center (including the network center) is constructed as the back building of the Library; the structure is built for the purpose of establishing the university's digital infrastructure and high-speed optical network.

11 Elytone Building for Electrical Engineering and Computer Science

The building is a donation from Mr. Chow Lee-fu; the construction began in June 2017 and was completed in May 2019.

The external wall's window design transforms the entire side of the structure into a punch card. The abstract double E imagery presents a feeling of technology as well as digital self-clarity.

In addition to the college office, the building houses the Departments of Computer Science and Information Engineering , Communication Engineering , and Electrical Engineering.

12 Mind Lake Hall

The structure's plans include a 2-story building with a total area of 1,700 square meters slated for opening in March 2021.

The hall will primarily offer students, faculty, and members of the community with an area containing stores and restaurants. The design of the hall focuses on providing an esthetically pleasing and comfortable dining area supported by a central garden that adjoins great views of the lake. It will become the primary area of leisure and recreation at NTPU.

13 Mind Lake

Behind the library, the 2 hectares of water of Mind Lake are provided by the ancient Liucuopu Waterway. The area contains 2 performance stages, small bridges, and has preserved the functions of farmland irrigation and flood detention. The name "Mind Lake" was given by Sheng-Yen Master to represent the pond's "central campus location", "the mind is like a lake, while the lake is a reflection of the mind", and "the mind must maintain clarity, peace, and tranquility".

14 Woodworking Complex, HDG

This structure is donated by the HDG Foundation; it includes 3 buildings in a space of 179-ping and was opened in December 2018.

The project provides the Sanxia Campus with woodworking classrooms where students can learn, practice, or promote partnership projects between academia and industry to effectively improve the cultural awareness and understanding in woodworking culture of students at the university.

15 Leisure Sports Corner

The Leisure Sports Center contains simple sports facilities as well as a wooden lectern and seating that allows for outdoor classes.

16 Area of Student Dormitory

Student dormitories on the Sanxia Campus consist of the 4 buildings Dawning-Sun Building (men's dormitory), Shining-Moon Building (women's dormitory), Glistening-Star Building (graduate student dormitory), and Glory Dawn Building. Each building is well lit, ventilated, and provides good security. The rooms within the buildings are designed as suites while each dormitory offers laundry, multifunctional gyms, social lounges, kitchens, and other diverse spaces.

17 Mountainside Pavilion

The university's first president Dr. Lee Jian-xing overlooked the immovable peaks of Yuan Shan from this pavilion. As in the words of Sun Tzu's Art of War: "soldiers... , immovable like the mountains", hence the name "Mountainside Pavilion".

18 Liucuopu Waterway

Liucuopu Waterway (originally named "Longenpi") is the largest waterway in Sanxia that transports water from Yuan Shan to irrigate the fields of Longenpu, Liucuopu, and Maiziyuan. The section of the waterway within the campus is lined with Taiwan Incense-cedar trees and flows into Mind Lake.

19 Gymnasium & Student Activity Center

The 4-story structure with 1 underground level was officially open in February 2019.

The center offers students and faculty within the university with a location for sports & leisure, club activities, and physical education. The center includes a 25 meter heated pool, changing rooms and showers, steam rooms and sauna, and water therapy pools; the first floor contains a general court, badminton court, office, and snack area; the second floor contains a fitness gym, office, and community activity center; the third floor contains an aerobic room and community activity center while the fourth floor contains practice rooms for clubs, faculty research labs, and community activity centers.

20 Athletic Field & Underground Parking

The 2-story RC structure contains 3 underground levels. The structure's geometric design has converted it into the university's modern and landmark architecture that continues the university's open atmosphere by the receding open square and green belt which establish a new cultural relationship between the city and campus.

The university's athletic field boasts a standard 400-meter track and a field that has been certified by the IAAF as Taiwan's fifth level-2 athletic facility. The arched concrete panels, wood grain bricks, wooden venetian blinds, and stained glass of the stands elicits the feelings of speed, minimalism, and clarity. Underground parking is located in floors B2 and B3 (accommodates 975 cars, 315 motorcycles).

21 Kite-Soaring Square

The work of Chiang Chong-muo "Soaring Kite of Sanxia": It stands silently next to the campus freeway and in the near future, the MRT Sanying line will pass above the square. The "Soaring Kite of Sanxia" stands 8-meters tall with a wingspan of 20-meters and is the university's most prominent landmark.
