Article 1 Eligibility for admission and the maximum length of study

(1) Eligibility for admission

Admission to the International Program on Urban Governance (hereinafter “IPUG Program”) at National Taipei University (hereinafter “NTPU”) is granted only to applicants who meet all the eligibility requirements. The program’s admission criteria and related details shall be specified separately.

- (2) The duration of study in the IPUG Program is at least two years. In principle, students are forbidden from taking full-time jobs while enrolled in the IPUG Program. If special circumstances apply where a student needs to take a full-time job, that student shall apply to the office of the IPUG Program for permission within one month after the commencement of employment. The office will submit the application for the IPUG Program Committee’s approval. The duration of study in the IPUG Program for a student who has obtained permission to keep a full-time job is, in principle, at least three years, and his/her academic advisor and thesis advisor must be informed of said employment.

Article 2 Credits and course selection

- (1) To graduate from the IPUG Program, each student must complete at least 28 credits of courses, pass the oral examination for his/her Master’s degree and submit his/her thesis to the IPUG Program.
- (2) Students who take courses at departments (institutes) outside of the IPUG must acquire permission from his/her academic advisor or thesis advisor, and submit the course selection list with the academic advisor or thesis advisor’s signature to the IPUG. The credits of the course can be counted toward graduation credits, but this is limited to three credits total.

Article 3 Academic advisor

- (1) Each graduate student should, within one month after his/her enrollment, courteously request an IPUG faculty member to act as his/her academic advisor. If the student is unable to find an academic advisor during the specified period, his/her mentor for the IPUG shall act as the academic advisor.
- (2) The academic advisor will give instructions with regard to learning, course selection and research projects under the IPUG Program until his/her student chooses a thesis advisor.

Article 4 Thesis advisor

- (1) Each graduate student should, before the end of the first academic year after his/her enrollment, determine a thesis advisor with the consent of the Director of the IPUG. In principle, the thesis advisor should be a full-time or part-time faculty member of the university. The student should, in the meantime, submit the letter of agreement from the thesis advisor. If a student wishes to invite a thesis advisor from other universities, he/she should provide the reasons and obtain the agreement of the Director of the IPUG.
- (2) To replace a thesis advisor, a student shall submit an application to the IPUG Program and do so after obtaining permission from the IPUG Program Committee.

Article 5 Masters Examination Committee

- (1) Students taking the IPUG Program should apply for the convening of a Masters Examination Committee one month prior to the examination for a Master's degree.
- (2) Each oral examination committee comprises 3 to 5 members recommended by the thesis advisor. One of the committee members who did not serve as the thesis advisor will be appointed the convener and chairperson, hired by the NTPU president at the Director's request.

Article 6 Master's Degree Examination

- (1) Prior to the master's degree examination, the graduate student should provide a preliminary report on his or her thesis outline. The graduate student can apply for the master's degree examination only if his or her preliminary report is approved by the preliminary examination committee. Before submitting the degree thesis examination "application", students must complete the original comparison of the dissertation, using the softwares that are approved by the University. The comparison results (with literature references not included) must be submit to the program coordinator and the advisor(s) and be provided to the examination committee in the degree examination. The master's degree examination should be conducted at least three months after the preliminary report. The student should, with the consent of his or her thesis advisor, submit an integrated research proposal approved by the thesis advisor. The preliminary

- examination committee shall comprise three to five members recommended by the thesis advisor.
- (2) The master's degree examination shall be held in an open process and shall be audio-recorded. The student shall submit the application form together with the “Academic Research Ethics Education Certificate of Completion” to the IPUG at least one month prior to the examination. An examination may only be held when it is attended by at least two thirds of the committee members.

Article 7 Submitting the Master’s thesis for graduation

- (1) The master's degree thesis should be prepared according to the format required by the IPUG.
- (2) To complete the graduation process, the graduate student should submit to the office of the IPUG five hard copies of his or her master's degree thesis in green-colored covers, as well as one in the form of an electronic file. The student should, in the meantime, authorize the IPUG to publicize the abstract of the thesis on its website.
